

We found some nice poplar boards that came off a barn in Hendersonville. The wood had several different hues so after we planed it down, we added some natural stain to bring out the colors, including a surprising green streak along one edge. Then we added some neutral black lumber pedestal legs. Our customer wanted a bar height (42") table so we made the legs to that height. Requires 30" chairs or bar stools.

This would make a great bar-height dining table or bar.
