

We found some old cast iron hairpin legs on a farm in Mills River. Those legs were common on all sorts of tables in the 1950's and are now making a comeback. We added them to a piece of a red oak slab we bought in Horseshoe. Makes a nice side or entry table.

About 31 inches high, 16 inches wide and about 12 inches deep.

$125