

A customer asked us to make a special and unique-looking console table for her rental house. In our picking adventures, we had acquired some vintage steel and rivet-welded bar stools that were very cool and extremely heavy. Turned out that adding some barn wood for a shelf and a live red oak slab for a top was exactly what she wanted. She couldn't be happier with the way this turned out.

We find unique looking pieces all the time, and can't wait to repurpose them into something special for your space.
